Immerse nail & beauty therapy

Your update from Becky

Well life has been a little more hectic for me this summer! Austin is now 4 months, he hasn't been sleeping as well as I would like, he is often awake most of the day (but we're making some progress there) and occasionally sleeps through the night until around 5am on a good night! That said he's just so beautiful and such a happy baby when he's awake. Through my previous 'baby stages' my husband Phil was working part time from home so it made it much easier for me to go to work and do things when I needed but he now works full time. I'm not sure when I will be able to return to working in the salon at this stage but I pop in once or twice a week and I am in contact with the girls daily.
